by saying that the committee had had the question under consideration and, after an examination of the statutes bearing upon the question of the invasion of the Capitol grounds by organized bodies of men, had reached the conclusion that the laws now on the statute books made ample provision for the protection of the buildings. He said that the committee had taken the necessary steps to see that the laws were executed. There was a very meagre attendance of Senators while the question was under consideration, but many of those present spoke briefly, a majority of them expressing the view that no danger was to be apprehended, except, possibly, from thleves and other characters who might take advantage of the press of the Coxeyites to make trouble and the opinion was general that preparation should be made to look after them very closely. The impression also seemed general that the regularly organized police would be capable of executing the laws during the presence of the army and that it would not be necessary to make any especial show of armed

LEADERS UNDER ARREST.

The Los Angeles Regiment in Trouble

-Scheme to Raise Money. SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., April 18.-The second Los Angeles regiment of the commonweal army, eight of whose leaders are under arrest here, is proving a thorn in the public's side. The authorities of San Bernardino to-day began to break up the army and prevent its moving east from here, but they now find that their hands are more than full. Yesterday the eight leaders under arrest were taken from the county jail to Colton to plead before Justice Bingham to a charge of attempting to defraud the Southern Pacific railroad out of fares. The eight men pleaded not guilty. They at once made preparation to furnish ball, with the intention of delivering inflammatory speeches, but were prevented from doing so by the district attorney, who filed complaints charging them with inciting rlot. After pleading not guilty to the charge each one demanded a separate jury trial and proceeded to subpoena every member of the army as a witness, thereby hop-ing to get all of their comrades a job at $2 a day during the trial of the eight different

The Chicago people want to make the agreement on a basis of the Chicago price instead of on New York price, as is done by the wholesale grocers' associations which have been formed in several States. No final agreement was reached, but the representatives of the houses present believe they see their way clear to perfect an agreement.

FORT WAYNE'S SHAME

Democratic Fraud that Outdoes Tammany Hall Trickery.

True History of Shambaugh's Nomination for Mayor-Terre Haute Prohibitionists in a Box.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 18.-The members of the "executive" committee of the Democratic city central committee, being the "ring" that had charge of the primarles held in this city as well as supervision of the count of the votes, have tendered their their respective candidates, John E. Moore and Robert J. Loveland, to be submitted resignations to the Democratic city central committee. This is done at the urgent "request" of a number of prominent Democrats who were dissatisfied with the way things were conducted at the primarles, and also at the canvassing of the votes. Their resignation will not go into effect until after the election, but they will reaffairs of the party during the present campaign. The resignation is drawn up and signed by each member and is in the hands of a prominent Democrat of this city. It is high time the truth were known about the political situation in Fort Wayne. Such a united howl has been set up by the Democrats themselves that anything Republicans can say will sound tame in comparison. Louis Heilbroner, a saioon and pool room keeper, with Phil Lintlag, a brewery agent, are at the head of the ring known as the executive committee that has resigned. These two, with their friends, had charge of the count of the votes. There is not the least dispute that Mr. Read was fairly chosen by the votes at the primaries on the Saturday previous, his plurality being about 140. At about 11 o'clock on that Saturday night all the precincts were in but three. The returns already gave Read a majority, and the missing precincts were known to be Read precincts. The Shambaugh men gave up the fight, but the executive committee which to-day has been forced to resign did not give up. Trusty agents were sent out to bring in the returns, and when the missing ones were finally counted at 12:30 o'clock Sunday torning. Shambaugh was announced to have been successful by just two votes. The official count came the next Monday, and this was conducted by this same "executive committee." As soon as a Read man put in a protest against a manifest fraud the room was cleared of every one except the committee and a few stragglers, who were Shambaugh men. With these conditions the count was continued and Shambaugh was declared elected by only one majority. Never has such a political storm been seen in Fort Wayne as has been raging since that vote was announced. Two of the Democratic papers denounced the result and demanded the removal of the executive committee from all part in the management of the campaign. The Staats Zeitung in column editorial this week said the Fort Wayne Democratic ring had been guilty of an outrage that would put Tammany Hall to shame. The Sentinel spared the committee no more than did the German paper. It was growing plainer every day that the central committee must do something and do it quick. Both Democratic papers re-fused to support the ticket and Democrats were coming out for Col. Oakley, the Republican candidate, by hundreds. It was therefore to stop this stampede to Oakley that the cetnral committee, at the com mand of the Democratic papers, called for the resignation of the executive committee. However, no one is deceived by this alleged "resignation." It is announced that the executive committee will take no further hand in the campaign. This is as false as was the nomination of Shambaugh. Heilbroner, Lintlag & Co., as the head of the executive committee is styled, constitute the political machine of Fort Wayne. They are the brains of the whole concern. Heilbroner in his pool room was giving odds of $100 to $50 that Shambaugh would be the nominee and he had to be elected to save Heilbroner. These men have their clutches on the party machine and while they may say they have resigned and that they will give up the management of the campaign. it is only done to deceive. They do not mean to resign "after the election" as is announced, except in name. The first thing they will do will be to re-elect themselves as the executive committee There is one great satisfaction to the Republicans in all this. It gives Republicans the hope that Colonel Oakley will be elected Mayor of Fort Wayne.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 18.-The Prohibitionists are much exercised over the announcement that the names of their candidates for city offices will not be printed on the city ticket. ## FREY'S ADVANCE MEN

They Come to Organize a Coxey Brigade Here To-Night.

The General Now at Terre Haute-What the Governor Thinks About the Army's Coming.

Col. J. A. Aubry and Lieut. J. A. Salisbury, of General Frey's division of the Coxey army, arrived in Indianapolis last night. These officials came into town in a "White-line sleeper," known in the army as a freight car. They came directly from St. Louis over the Vandalia, arriving here at 5 o'clock last night. Both men left Los Angeles, Cal., on March 16 with General Frey. At St. Louis a slight misunderstanding arose between General Frey and Colonel Aubry, which resulted in the latter withdrawing himself from the main branch for a time. Colonel Aubry advocated the theory that riding was as cheap as walking, which did not meet with the approval of the superior officer, who favors the original plan of footing it to Washington.

It was decided that Colonel Aubry, with Lieutenant Salisbury, should come to Indianapolis, organize a division of industrials, and join the brigade in Washington. With this purpose in view the Colonel and Lieutenant set out for this city some days ago. They expect to leave Indianapolis next week with five hundred men, and propose to meet the Coxey millions in the Nation's capital on May 1. Colonel Aubry and his lieutenant are guests of the George Hotel. Both show distinct traces of hard campaigning. Evidently, military title is in easy reach of the followers of Coxey. Colonel Aubry is twenty-four years old, while Lieutenant Salisbury is but twentytwo. They are honest looking young fellows who would, with a practical administration of soap and water and a visit to a gents' furnishing store, make admirable candidates for a dry-goods store cierkship. By occupation Colonel Aubry is a book-keeper, and he stated that his lieutenant had been a tea and coffee "drummer" until the panic came on. The Colonel's attire consists of a light check spring suit and a yachting cap of navy blue. Lieutenant Salisbury wears a decent suit of black, and lacks the decidedly dudish appearance of his superior. However, the Lieutenant smokes cigarettes and rolls his own tobacco with a nonchalance to be envied by the most dapper swell. Colonel Aubry says that he expects to find an army of a million men when he gets to Washington.

He is convinced that Congress will not refuse the things to be asked for, and he has no doubt about the ultimate success of the movement. He states the platform of the industrial army as follows: "Stoppage for ten years of foreign immigration, employment for America's unemployed citizens, and a stoppage of alien The Western division of the army is to ask Congress for an appropriation to be used in the irrigation of the great Western desert, which industry would give employ-ment to thousands. The Colonel states that the notice received by the police from General Frey regarding advance solicitors has no reference to himself and Lieutenant Salisbury. They are seeking no help, and only desire to be heard by the laboring men. The army reached St. Louis by the way of El Paso, Tex., and, from the statement of Colonel Aubry, endured many hardships in the Southwest. The division numbers about four hundred men, and will arrive in this city some time next week. General Frey reached Terre Haute yesterday ahead of his men, to prepare a reception for them. He states that his men are poorly clad and poorly fed, which accounts for the slow progress they are making. The General will secure a hall in Terre Haute and deliver a lecture for the benefit of his army. While in that city, yesterday, Governor Mattthews, in speaking of the treatment of the industrials, said: "A well-fed animal is easily handled. The people had better feed them and shove them along. I do not believe they will commit any depredations." To-night the first steps toward organizing a division of the army in Indianapolis will be taken at a meeting to be held in the Criminal Court room, Colonel Aubry will be the chief orator. He expects to have no trouble in securing five hundred men, and will begin drilling them at once. He says that the most rigid discipline will be practiced, and that when a man grows unruly he is treated to an old-fashioned spanking, in which the entire regiment takes a hand.

DR. JENCKES'S VIEWS. Coxey, He Thinks, Is an Instrument

in the Hands of God. Dr. Joseph Jenckes, who was formerly pastor of St. Paul's Church, claims that Coxey did not organize his industrial army of his own free will, but is simply an instrument in the hands of God to carry out the provisions of the divine law.

"The fulfillment of the prophecies which I made in St. Paul's years ago are coming true, sure enough," said 'Dr. Jenckes vesterday. "People call us cranks, but as they realize the truth of our predictions they will begin to see aright. We have all along contended that the immediate future has in store unrest, revolutions and stygian blackness in every branch of earthly existence, social, political and industrial. Aren't our predictions coming true? Take, for instance, the many scandals, such as the Pollard-Breckinridge trial Doesn't that show that there's a vortex of scandal in the social world? In financial spheres look at the panic of last fall and, locally, the Indianapolis bank wreckage. Look at the political corruption, and, as a result, the movement of the unemployed to Washington. They are all sure indications of the millennium."
Dr. Jenckes called the reporter's attention to the fact that an Austrian savant named Talb, has recently fixed upon Nov. 14, 1899, as the date for the second coming of the Messiah. Professor Totten, years ago, decided that the Savior's advent would happen on March 29, 1899, and the Doctor has written a letter to the latter complimentng both upon the seeming remarkable prescience which led them to select the same year for that auspicious occurrence. He expects a reply shortly.
